Keep your finances in check with Lodi's choice of spring wallets. Withdraw one from Emma Laura at Town Center in downtown Watkinsville.

2

Get lucky with our GoodStuff. Here's a Business and Finance tip all the way from Japan. These Maneki Neko cats are placed in Japanese businesses to bring good fortune. Begin your good fortune at Frontier, downtown on East Clayton Street.

3

Mind your own business with the hand-designed organizer by local artist Kate Zimmerman. They have a daily space for those who work by the clock, and for those who don't. Plan your way to www.jetkatdesign.com.

4

Unwind after a hard day at the office with the soothing scent of these amazing custom-made candles. Seda, meaning "silk," truly does this candle justice. It is the silk of scented candles! Follow your nose to the Spa at Foundry Park Inn in downtown Athens.

5

Lighten your load and shed some unwanted pounds with the sleek MacBook Air. But don't recycle it with your old Athena issues: Newsweek reporter, Steven Levy, mistakenly tossed his Air into the trash along with a stack of old magazines! Breeze on over to peachmac at Epps Bridge.

6

Scrumptiously savvy, this delicious little book will give your bank account a makeover. Order The Savvy Girl's Guide to Money: The Savvy Way to Have the Life You Want by Emily Chantiri at Borders on Alps, Barnes and Nobles on the Atlanta Hwy. or at Amazon.com.

7

Looking smart has never been so stylish. Accessorize your eyes with a pair of glasses that shows off your personality! Set your sights on Thomas Eye Center on Baxter Street.

8

SErase time with Kinerase anti-aging products. If they're good enough for Courteney Cox, they're good enough for us! Grab your friends and head over to Ageless Remedies on the Atlanta Hwy.

9

Fight the Man. This little key chain counts down the minutes until your parking meter is up (and holds extra coins), perfect for any Athenian. Orange boots are in style this season, just not attached to the tire of your car. Feed the meter and head into Helix, downtown on East Clayton Street.

10

This little piggy came from the market, and you will definitely want to take him home! This wooden piggy bank, made in Peru, is so charming it will make you squeal...like a pig. Cash in at Frontier in downtown Athens on East Clayton Street.
